Livingston County Wildlife and Conservation Club expands its Archery presence in Michigan with the addition of its affiliation with the ASA Federation

Hamburg, Mich. – LCWCC - Dedicated to furthering the cause of conserving our natural resources, LCWCC provides recreation and entertainment for its members and community.— debuts its new affiliation with the ASA Federation. For over 70 years, The Livingston County Wildlife and Conservation Club (LCWCC) has focused preserving and fostering a love for the land and it's creatures. The club sits on 23 acres of land with 700 feet of Huron River frontage. Through recreational activities such as Archery, our drive to disrupt mediocrity and commitment to preservation has allowed us to create the highest quality environment for like minded individuals and outdoor enthusiasts who share a similar passion.

“We’re particularly excited to become affiliated with such a highly recognized organization! Archery has multiple benefits and brings people together. This affiliation will further propel LCWCC's Archery program as a leading force in the community through state sanctioned events that not only promote community involvement, but also provide additional revenue to our community. Archery improves focus, strength, and confidence.” said Tom Spisz, Archery Director for LCWCC

ASA Federation – What does it mean?

With a focus on the growth of the sport of 3-D archery by supporting local clubs and making a commitment to youth education and training, the ASA has established itself as a leading force in the movement to bring the sport to mainstream America. The ASA organization includes experienced archers and coaches that work year-round conducting well organized and challenging local, state, and national tournaments that are enjoyed by professional and amateur shooters alike.

ASA 3-D Archery?

ASA 3-D archery features competitive rounds of lifelike, three-dimensional animal targets made of foam. The scoring rings are not always visible from the shooting stake and binoculars are allowed. Advanced archers must determine the distance to the target, pick a good aiming point, and execute the shot. The ASA was the first archery organization to implement a speed limit (280 feet per second) for safety and to establish a level playing field for 3-D competition. Beginning in 2007, the ASA was the first national organization to incorporate Known Distance 3-D which provides competitors with another option, as well as providing a more accessible starting point for new competitors.

If you are a target archer, bowhunter or just interested in getting started in archery, as an ASA Club, LCWCC will provide you the opportunity to meet and share experiences with new friends, learn about the latest equipment, improve your archery skills, and spend time with great people. Whether you are new to ASA or seasoned, there is an available class to match your skill set amongst equal peers.

About Livingston Wildlife & Conservation Club: Celebrating 70 Years of Conservation!

LCWCC is a private non-profit organization with more than one hundred twenty-year members. The club is ran by an Executive Board making the best decisions for the club and it's members.

The board and members of LCWCC pledge to abide by the laws of the club, the state of Michigan, and to uphold the Constitution of the United States of America.

Dedicated to furthering the cause of conserving our natural resources, LCWCC provides recreation and entertainment for its members, and provides moral and/or physical or financial assistance to civic and community activities whose purposes are not opposite those of the Club.

LCWCC offers a variety of events and activities for it's members and the community. Please take some time to review the website to see what events and/or activities you would like to check out. www.lcwcc.org

LCWCC founders and life members credit our success to the people, across our community, who have given supportive and valuable feedback about growth and recreational opportunities over our seven decades. This focus on listening to the community's needs and wants has inspired us to create recreational opportunities with first-of-its-kind features, notable reliability and paths to encourage outdoor-related organizations to also come together to support a common goal; to recruit and retain participants, as part of the "Get Outdoors" movement.

The company invites you to visit www.lcwcc.org and to connect with the club on Facebook.
